

LADUE NEWS

SEPTEMBER 13, 2013

*The Curtain
Exchange™*

*Luxurious fabrics,
beautiful window treatments
and so much more.*

homebeautiful

A Ladue News Special Section

Designer Libby Langdon Launches Luxury Peel-and-Stick Wallcovering Collection

Do you love the wow factor of wallpaper, but feel put off by the permanence and labor-intensive installation? If so, you'll want to know about the new peel-and-stick removable and reusable wallcovering collection by interior designer Libby Langdon for Casart. Langdon's wallcoverings allow you to have fun with color and pattern, but in a very easy and low-commitment way. (We thought you'd like that!)

"You literally just start at the top of your wall, pull the backing sheet off, and smooth with your hands as you go...no tools necessary!" explains Langdon, who is known for her easy yet elegant style and one-day makeovers on NBC's Open House. "If you need to, you can simply lift and reposition, without frustrating buckling and bubbling. I believe design should be accessible and fun, and all of my products, from my upholstered furniture to my rugs, are based on direct input from my clients who don't want to sacrifice style for comfort, practicality and ease."

The timing of Langdon's wallcovering launch dovetails with her new television show, Daycover with Libby Langdon, which airs this October on the NBC network, COZI TV. "My show is an interior design makeover that happens in less than

The Libby Langdon Wallcovering Collection for Casart includes bold geometrics and scrolling patterns. casartcoverings.com.

12 hours," she says. "I'm working in one of my actual client's homes each segment, so it's not just thrown together for TV. The designs have to be real, livable and beautiful, but also fuss-free for the fast pace of finishing it all in one day. So when Casart approached me to design a peel-and-stick wallcovering for them, it couldn't have been a better fit."

Libby Langdon